

PRIDE ACADEMY

February Newsletter

Week 4

This Week's Agenda

- Literacy & Phonics: Children will revisit favorite books from the month, engage in storytelling, and participate in letter recognition games to reinforce B, H, and E.
- Mathematics: Students will count and review numbers 4-6, sort shapes and colors, and create patterns through hands-on play and movement.
- Science: We will explore sound, movement, and color mixing, review past experiments, and reflect on discoveries made during February.
- Social Studies: Children will review Black artists and inventors, engage in role-play, and reflect on how kindness and friendship were a part of this month's learning.
- Creative Arts & Music: Students will enjoy collaborative art projects, painting to jazz music, and a special art showcase to display their creative work from the month.
- Wellbeing & Movement: Activities such as yoga, gratitude reflections, movement games, and dancing will help children develop motor skills, self-expression, and social connections.

How You Can Support at Home

- Read books together and ask questions about what your child remembers.
- Listen to jazz music and discuss how it makes you feel.
- Encourage creativity with painting, drawing, or storytelling at home.
- Discuss Black artists and inventors with your child to connect history to the present.
- Talk about kindness and ways to be a good friend!

Hello February

Dear Families,

Welcome to Week 4 at Pride Academy! This week, we will review and celebrate all that the children have learned throughout February. From Black artists and inventors to exploring music, movement, and creativity, we will reinforce key concepts and skills. Children will engage in fun, hands-on activities that encourage language development, math skills, sensory exploration, and self-expression through music, storytelling, and art.
