Week 1

This Week's Learning Focus

Theme: Bugs & Insects Exploration

Color: Blue | Number: 7 | Letter: Ff |

Shape: Oval

Language & Literacy: Engaging with bug-themed books, songs, and storytelling while introducing the letter F.

Phonics: Exploring letter recognition through sensory activities and movement games.

Mathematics: Learning about the number 7 and oval shapes through sorting, counting, and shape play.

Science: Discovering bug textures, sounds, and habitats through hands-on exploration.

Social Studies: Understanding how bugs help the environment and learning about community helpers like beekeepers.

Creative Arts: Creating bug-inspired artwork using stamping, painting, and texture play.

Physical Health & Growth: Strengthening gross and fine motor skills through tummy time, stretching, movement, and dance activities.

How You Can Support at Home

- Read bug-themed books with your child and talk about different insects.
- Encourage sensory play with textures, sounds, and movement activities.
- Practice counting and shapes using everyday household objects.
- Take a nature walk and look for bugs, pointing out different colors and shapes.
- Sing songs and move like insects—wiggle like a caterpillar, flutter like a butterfly, or buzz like a bee!

Hello March

Dear Families,

We're excited to begin March Week 1 at Pride Academy! This week, students of all ages will explore the fascinating world of bugs and insects through books, sensory activities, movement, art, and hands-on learning. Scholars will build early literacy, math, and science skills while developing curiosity, fine and gross motor skills, and social-emotional growth.

Infants, toddlers, and preschoolers will each engage in age-appropriate activities that promote discovery, creativity, and interactive play while reinforcing key concepts such as letter recognition, counting, shape identification, and movement exploration.
